JANDEL HOMES UNVEILS NEW WEBSITE

Modular home builder, Jandel Homes, makes it easier for buyers to learn about the modular home advantage

Acheson, Alberta (May 25, 2016) - JANDEL HOMES has launched a redesign of their website, jandelhomes.com. Designed with the user experience in mind, changes to the site navigation help buyers find the information they need quicker and offers access to comprehensive details on the modular home advantage.

The newly redesigned website places an enhanced focus on media. New product filters allow buyers to locate Jandel Homes' offerings easier, with more interior and exterior product photos, comprehensive floor plans and specs.

"We are excited about the new website launch and the ease of use for customers to find all the pertinent information they require to make the right decision," said Mark Huchulak, Owner and President at Jandel Homes. "When we first approached re-designing the website, we knew we wanted to make it mobile friendly and simplify the navigation to make information easily accessible."

Jandel Homes' website will be updated regularly with product launch news, events, and business activity. Buyers are encouraged to visit the new website at jandelhomes.com and to sign up for direct emails from the company to hear about exclusive events and news.

To see the new site, visit www.jandelhomes.com.
